RULES WOULD HALT BOMBING CIVILIAN CITIES

World Air War Body Reports Draft.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., June 22.—(Special.)—Far-reaching regulations designed to minimize the horrors of warfare of the air, which perhaps will be the chief theater of the next conflict between nations, have been framed by a commission of eminent jurists representing the principal powers under a provision of the agreements made at the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments.

The commission is privileged to present to the world the text of the rules governing the use of aircraft in war as finally approved by the commission, sitting at the Hague, and transmitted of the respective powers within the last few days.

Under these rules aerial bombings of civilian populations removed from the immediate theater of military operations, as in the case of the airship attacks on London and other cities during the World war, are outlawed.

Based on American Draft.

The more important regulations governing the use of military aircraft, which were based on the American draft, are as follows:

ARTICLE 1.

The rules of aerial warfare apply to aircraft, whether lighter or heavier than air, irrespective of whether they are not, capable of floating in the air.

ARTICLE 2.

The following shall be deemed to be public aircraft:

A. Military aircraft.

B. Non-military aircraft exclusively employed in the public service.

All other aircraft shall be deemed to be private aircraft.

ARTICLE 3.

A military aircraft shall bear an external mark indicating its nationality and military character.

ARTICLE 4.

A belligerent non-military aircraft, whether public or private, may be converted into a military aircraft, provided the conversion is effected within the jurisdiction of the belligerent state to which the aircraft belongs and not on the high seas.

ARTICLE 5.

Outside the jurisdiction of any state, belligerent or neutral, all aircraft shall have full freedom of passage through the air and of alighting.

ARTICLE 6.

In time of war any state, whether belligerent or neutral, may forbid or restrict the entrance, movement, or departure of aircraft within its jurisdiction.

ARTICLE 7.

Military aircraft are alone entitled to exercise belligerent rights.

ARTICLE 8.

No aircraft other than a belligerent military aircraft shall engage in hostilities in any form.

The term hostilities includes the transmission during flight of military intelligence for the immediate use of a belligerent.

No private aircraft, when outside the jurisdiction of its own country, shall be armed in time of war.

ARTICLE 9.

The use of tracer, incendiary, or explosive projectiles by or against aircraft is not prohibited. This provision applies equally to states which are parties to the declaration of St. Petersburg, 1905, and to those which are not.

ARTICLE 10.

The use of false external marks is forbidden.

ARTICLE 11.

When an aircraft has been disabled, the occupants when endeavoring to escape by means of a parachute must not be attacked in their descent.

ARTICLE 12.

The use of aircraft for the purpose of disseminating propaganda shall not be treated as an illegitimate means of warfare.

MAY NOT BOMB CIVILIANS

ARTICLE 13.

Aerial bombardment for the purpose of terrorizing the civilian population, of destroying or damaging private property, or of a military character, or of injuring noncombatants, is prohibited.

ARTICLE 14.

Aerial bombardment to enforce compliance with regulations in kind or payment of contributions in money is prohibited.

ARTICLE 15.

Aerial bombardment is legitimate only when directed at a military objective.

U. S. WILL RAID BRITISH LINERS, GET RUM TODAY

Flock of Alien Ships Bringing Liquor.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., June 22.—(Special.)—Procedure in the case of the Baltic, Berengaria and other liners arriving inside the three mile limit with liquor on board for beverage purposes, will be left largely to the discretion of the customs officials at New York, but there will be no departure from the treasury ruling that such stores sealed or unsealed will be confiscated, regardless of protests by ship captains or officers of the steamship companies concerned.

It was announced at the department that the liquor on the Berengaria, the Baltic, would be taken over and held under a receipt given by the captain. The protest from the steamship lines is expected by the treasury department, but what the next step will be was not announced.

British Ambassador Silent.

No representations have been made by the British ambassador, and at the embassy the statement was made that no instructions had been received, and that it had no official information as to the developments. Embassy officials were interested in the news from New York but neither disturbed nor concerned.

The British ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, will sail on the Berengaria next Tuesday for England for a vacation and rest.

The government of Canada has informed the state department that Canadian laws and regulations do not permit refusal of clearance papers to vessels carrying liquors destined for a foreign port simply because of the fact that the entry of such liquor, without special permits, is prohibited at the foreign port in question, and that it is, therefore, unable to cooperate in this way with the American authorities in enforcing the prohibition laws of the United States along the Canadian border.

U. S. Note Gets Turn-down.

The state department last March addressed a note to the British ambassador for transmission to the Canadian authorities drawing their attention to the difficulties encountered by the United States because the Canadian authorities permitted small motor boats to take on cargoes of liquor and to make a regular custom clearance to some port in the United States, thus complying with the Canadian law which prohibits the sale of liquors to persons in Canada but allows the exportation to a foreign country. In this note it was suggested clearance papers be refused to such vessels unless an importation permit was presented.

It was announced at the state department today that the Canadian government had replied on June 19, through the British embassy, that after careful investigation it has been ascertained that the provisions of the Canadian law were being properly observed and it, therefore, regretted its inability to adopt the suggestion put forth by the United States government in regard to the matter.

WILL ACT TODAY, U. S. SAYS

New York, June 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Two ocean liners flying the Union Jack steamed into New York harbor today with excellent stocks of liquor for the trip home, despite the fact that Uncle Sam had said they must cross the three mile limit alone dry.

All day long the water front waited to see federal agents pounce on the liquor, breaking the British government seals with which the lockers were stamped, and carrying away the wet goods. But late this afternoon the Canadian law was being properly observed and it, therefore, regretted its inability to adopt the suggestion put forth by the United States government in regard to the matter.

Had Announced Intention.

One of the British vessels to defy the American dry edict and force a test case was the Cunard liner Berengaria. The fact that she intended to carry liquor across the three mile line had been well heralded and treasury agents in New York had been deluged with orders from Washington as to just how to act.

The other vessel was the White Star

SHOULD THE U. S. JOIN THE WORLD COURT?

(Copyright, 1923, By The Chicago Tribune.)

"My observation during the last few years convinces me that the United States is better off by keeping up in European intrigues, so why depart from a course that has proven so beneficial to the nation?"

"The United States will be in a better position to help Europe and the rest of the world if she keeps her hands free and preserves complete independence of action. If she joins a world court she must abide by the decision of a majority, few of whom have any real love for us."

"We should join the world court, by all means. We owe a duty to civilization and humanity. We must be leaders in the work of peace. No longer can we isolate ourselves and be a hermit nation. The world and humanity look to us, the richest and most disinterested nation, for idealistic leadership."

MANITOBA KILLS ITS DRY LAW BY VOTE OF PEOPLE

Winnipeg, Manitoba, June 22.—(By Associated Press.)—Voters of Manitoba, adopted by popular vote today a system whereby intoxicating liquors will be sold by the government. Although complete returns had not been received, Winnipeg gave the proposal a majority of 25,000, and scattered reports from all over the province indicated that the measure was sure of passage. Heretofore liquor has been entirely prohibited. Reports from 140 polls throughout the province showed a wet majority of 2,300. This included many small urban centers, where prohibition advocates claimed their strongest vote.

until the growth of the country would give all a just return on the capital invested.

Law Already Provided.

The President referred to the provision in the Cummins-Eck law making possible such a solution but making it permissive rather than mandatory.

"There now appears to be no difficulty," he said, "about any constitutional inhibition to the voluntary consolidation as authorized by congress, but the problem of reconciling the interests of the hundreds of different owners and managements of lines to be merged into systems has proven a task for which no solution has been found."

In this emergency, therefore, the President said, the next step being seriously proposed would be to "amplify the provisions for consolidation so as to stimulate the consummation."

Legislation to bring this about would be sent to congress next session. Relations between the carriers and their employees, Mr. Harding told his great audience which filled the convention hall to overflowing, was a vital factor in the transportation problem.

Wants a Genuine Test.

He announced that he favored continuance of the railroad labor board, under modifications, "as seen most likely to make the plan successful." The board had not been given a fair test, in his opinion, adding that "there is little to hope for until all concerned are ready to comply promptly with the board's decisions."

"I am frank to say," he declared, "in a direct act at the railroad management, I do not hope for compliance on the part of the employees so long as decisions are ignored by the managers." In this the President's figures concluded that he contemplates giving the board sharper teeth and power to enforce decisions, which was so bitterly and successfully fought at the time the Cummins-Eck law was enacted.

Chaired Along the Streets.

The President shared with Mrs. Harding the honors bestowed on them by the people of western Missouri throughout the day. Arriving early this morning, the president and his party were taken for a fifteen mile drive through the streets of the city, which were lined with Kansas City thousands. The people were enthusiastic in their reception to the President and Mrs. Harding.

Because of the extreme heat, Mr. Harding cancelled a golf game he had intended playing at the Blue Hills Country club, and later, having been severely sunburned during his ride about the streets, the President was forced to forego the presentation of medals to two Boy Scouts, awarded for unusual heroism in life saving at Swaney Park.

Following his address in the evening the President and party left at 11 o'clock for Deaver, where on Monday the executive will deliver the third prepared address of his tour and will undertake the discussion of agricultural problems and relations.

"PUSH LA SALLE ST. WIDENING," DEVER'S ORDER

Sloan Told Not to Drop Original Plan.

Neither temporary financial stringencies nor superficial consideration will be allowed to sweep aside the Chicago plan commission's program for widening La Salle street to a 100 foot boulevard, an integral part of the "city beautiful" scheme evolved after twenty years' study, Mayor Dever is said to have told John J. Sloan, president of the board of local improvements, yesterday.

The mayor's ultimatum, which will probably result in the withdrawal of the Sloan plan for an eighty-six foot La Salle street, improved with arcaded sidewalks and install new vigor in the lagging South Water street widening and double decking project, was delivered after his conference yesterday with Mr. Sloan and Ald. Joseph Kostner (Twenty-third), chairman of the streets and alleys committee.

Kostner for Chicago Plan.

An ordinance authorizing inauguration of the Sloan substitute plan for the La Salle street improvement, recommended for passage by the streets and alleys committee at its last meeting, would not be introduced in the council until fall, if at all, Ald. Kostner told the mayor.

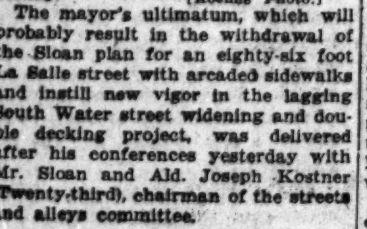

"I am for the Chicago plan in its every phase," declared the alderman, "and, in addition to my opinion of the impracticability of a slightly widened street with arcaded sidewalks, I am greatly impressed with the opposition to the substitution among property owners along La Salle street who volunteered twenty feet of their property to the city in furtherance of the original plan. They will submit to the new scheme only after the city has won the last round in a long, court fight."

Charles H. Wacker, president of the plan commission, and Frank I. Bennett, vice president, will join Mayor Dever, Corporation Counsel, Francis X. Busch and Mr. Sloan in a conference on the pending improvements next week. They, it was said yesterday, will reiterate their objection to a "make-shift" improvement of La Salle street which, it is contended, will be torn out in a few years at a far greater cost than their plans contemplate for a simple widening.

Sloan Tells of Difficulties.

"I told the mayor that, of course, we could abandon my plan for La Salle street," said Mr. Sloan. "I told him that La Salle street and its sister improvement, South Water street, could not be pushed on our present slender resources."

The widening of Western avenue from Lawrence avenue to Howard avenue will be completed early next fall, Mr. Sloan told the mayor, while 47th street to 58th street will be special assessment cases in connection with the widening of Western avenue from Lawrence to 11st street, and the widening of Ashland avenue from Winnebago avenue to Lake street, heard in the county courts next week.

JOHN J. SLOAN, President of the Board of Local Improvements.

Joseph Smith, colored, owner of a tenement building at 2128 Federal street, where ten persons lost their lives and a score or more were injured in a fire of mysterious origin Thursday morning, was booked for murder yesterday. Wallace Grant, 2109 South Dearborn street, also colored, likewise was held on a murder charge.

In ordering the charges placed, Chief of Police Collins declared ownership of a still, the explosion of which is alleged to have caused the fire, had been traced to Smith. Grant, it is alleged, had charge of the still for Smith.

Grant, who admits being Smith's chauffeur, was arrested yesterday morning. He denied tending the still. The one white victim of the fire was identified during the day as James Lehman, 50 years old and unmarried. William Lehman, a nephew, living at 2728 Shields avenue, who made the identification, said Lehman, a teamster, formerly lived at Bloomfield, Ind. It is thought Lehman entered the burning structure in an effort at rescue work.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST 2 FOR TENEMENT FIRE

The entrance of young Vanderbilt into the newspaper publishing field climaxes his rapid rise in the American journalistic field. Four years ago he went to work ineditis as a reporter on a New York daily.

In making his announcement of his new project, Vanderbilt Jr. threw into the discard the famous saying of his great, great grandfather, Commodore Vanderbilt—"The public be damned." He announced that his motto will be "The public be served."

"I am painfully aware that Commodore Vanderbilt lived to regret his statement," said young Vanderbilt today. "Time and conditions have changed since then and the confidence and good will of the public has been found to be the most valuable asset that can be acquired."

The news will be a penny picture newspaper published in tabloid form, using the United News service.

LAKE STEAMERS' OPEN EXCURSION SEASON TODAY

With every prospect of a banner year, judging from the reservations already made with the different companies, Chicago's open lake boat season today, at 10 a. m. the famous wheelbarrow, Christopher Columbus, of the Goodrich Transit company, makes its first daily trip of the season to Milwaukee and during the day the majority of the other lines will follow its example.

Among the lines beginning activity today are the Graham and Morton line, running to the Michigan cities, after which the steamers are named; the South Haven line; the Chicago, Duluth and Georgian Bay Transit company, which runs to Buffalo, and the Michigan Transit company.

QUAKES

VICTORIA, June 22.—Two earthquakes, one of unusual severity and the other of a minor character, were recorded on the seismographs at the Gonzales observatory here last night. The severe shock commenced 11:22:28 p. m., and continued for three hours. It centered at a distance about 3,100 miles, probably in the vicinity of Kamchatka peninsula (1), according to observatory attaches. The other record commenced at 7:22 p. m. and lasted twenty minutes. It centered at a distance of approximately 340 miles, apparently under the Pacific off the Washington or Oregon coasts (2).

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST 2 FOR TENEMENT FIRE

Joseph Smith, colored, owner of a tenement building at 2128 Federal street, where ten persons lost their lives and a score or more were injured in a fire of mysterious origin Thursday morning, was booked for murder yesterday. Wallace Grant, 2109 South Dearborn street, also colored, likewise was held on a murder charge.

In ordering the charges placed, Chief of Police Collins declared ownership of a still, the explosion of which is alleged to have caused the fire, had been traced to Smith. Grant, it is alleged, had charge of the still for Smith.

Grant, who admits being Smith's chauffeur, was arrested yesterday morning. He denied tending the still. The one white victim of the fire was identified during the day as James Lehman, 50 years old and unmarried. William Lehman, a nephew, living at 2728 Shields avenue, who made the identification, said Lehman, a teamster, formerly lived at Bloomfield, Ind. It is thought Lehman entered the burning structure in an effort at rescue work.

U.S. AMBASSADOR VIEWS RUINS IN MT. ETNA AREAS

Italy Refuses Aid Offered by Uncle Sam.

BY V. DE SANTO.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
CATANIA, June 22.—(Tribune Radio.)—Ambassador Child and Rear Admiral Andrews of the cruiser Pittsburgh, American flagship in Mediterranean waters, arrived at Catania this morning and drove to Linguaglossa, in the Mount Etna eruption zone. Thousands of Linguaglossa citizens, many of whom have been in the United States, gave the Americans an enthusiastic reception.

Mr. Child, acting on state department instructions, offered a substantial contribution of funds for the relief of the stricken, but Italian officials as well as Premier Mussolini, had given orders that no assistance from foreign lands could be accepted.

The first scientific data concerning the eruption was obtainable today. Sig. Alfio Barbagallo, in charge of the observatory on Mount Etna, which was partially destroyed, was virtually in the midst of new crises during the last four days, observing and making notes. It was thought he had been killed during the eruption, but he appeared at the main observatory at Catania this morning with the exact information as to what had happened.

Gives Details of Disaster.

He said the old crater became exceedingly active, and that a new chasm 40 feet wide appeared, out of which fire came in the shortest interval. The fire was accompanied by appalling explosions and earthquake shocks.

Sig. Barbagallo said he then descended the north side of the mountain 1,000 meters to the level of the new crater. He saw a new and immense crevice. It seemed as if the mountain had been split in two. In the middle of it he counted fifteen new volcanoes emitting lava.

Then he went further down to a sort of platform between Mount Nero and Mount Pizzillo, where there are two parts of the Mount Etna system. Here the earth opened a chasm 500 meters in length, 150 feet wide and 50 feet deep. There he counted sixteen craters, each with its own cone. They were emitting flames, burning gas, and lava.

Two Earthquakes at Pizzillo.

ROME, June 22.—(United News.)—Panic swept over Pizzila as two earthquakes shocked the city Friday. No damage resulted, however.

Cold Wave Sweeps Italy.

TRENT, Italy, June 22.—The cold wave which is sweeping Italy is extremely pronounced here. The surrounding Alps are covered with snow. At San Candido the snow is eighteen inches deep, while at Bolzano and Ortisei the thermometer has fallen to 34 degrees Fahrenheit.

CAPITAL THINKS HARDING HAS WON VOTES FOR COURT

St. Louis Speech Gains Wavering Senators.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—(Special.)—President Harding's St. Louis speech, indicating his willingness to make complete divorce of the world court from the league of nations a condition of American adhesion to the court protocol, has upset calculations as to the fate of the President's proposal when the senate meets next December.

The President's newly defined attitude is widely regarded as a concession to the opposition to the court voiced by irreconcilable and other Republican senators, who have asserted they would not vote for participation of the United States in the court unless it were completely separated from the league.

See Main Opposition Removed.

Those who place this interpretation upon the St. Louis speech are inclined to believe the President has outlined a basis upon which there will be little difficulty in procuring the senate's approval of the world court plan by the requisite two-thirds majority.

The part which the league plays in the election of judges of the tribunal has been at the bottom of much of the opposition in the Republican party.

It became known recently that thirty-two Republican senators had agreed definitely to support a reservation condition, American adhesion to the divorce of the court from the league. Thirty-three senators could block ratification. It, therefore, had become apparent before the President departed on his tour that he could scarcely hope to obtain senate approval without further reservations than he suggested in his February message.

May Heal G. O. P. Breach.

The President's speech is generally looked upon as having healed the breach developing in the Republican party on the world court issue and assuring a united party not only in the senate but in the Presidential campaign next year.

Whether, however, it will be possible to obtain senate approval of the President's proposal at the next session is a matter upon which opinion is exceedingly divided. Even with the Republicans fairly united on a plan to accept the world court, they would not be sufficiently numerous to accomplish ratification without Democratic support.

The Democrats have indicated from the start that they would support the President's plan as originally made, but it is not so certain they will accept a reservation divorcing the court from the league.

MAN-GIRL' FACES TESMER MURDER HEARING TODAY

Formal Charge Made as Writ Is Blocked.

Franklin garb neither deceived nor deflected Judge Joseph David yesterday at the habeas corpus hearing on behalf of Fred G. Thompson, alias "man-girl," the "man-girl" in the Tesmer case.

"Take this man or woman, whichever it is, before a Municipal court today in the morning," he ordered.

When one had employed Attorney Frank A. McDonnell to represent "Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Thompson," as the man named Frank Carrick and his wife, Freddy Frances. As a result of the writ proceedings a warrant was issued, formally charging Thompson with the murder of Richard Tesmer on June 5. Hearing on the charge will be held before Judge John J. Rooney in the South Court street court this morning.

"Will Be Able to Prove Guilt."

"We will be able to make out a complete case of murder against Freddy Frances," said Sgt. William Cusack, who made the arrest. "I am satisfied we will be able to prove him guilty."

"I wouldn't doubt that statement," said Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes after Attorney McDonnell had shown his hand by petitioning for the writ. "I want to get the other fellow, though, before I'd say the case was closed up."

His last statement referred to the "man-girl" "Slim," an underworld character, who is being hunted by the police.

Thompson's wife, who has been known as Marie Clark, has been released from custody. The police said she had no connection with the Tesmer murder, that they had held her only for questioning as to the veracity of the alibi presented by her "feminine husband." She, however, will be taken to appear in court this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Notice to produce "Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson" before Judge David at 10 p. m. was received by Chief Hughes soon after noon. The move had not been anticipated, as "Frank" as Thompson preferred to be called, had said he had no money to hire an attorney. To offset the move to obtain the writ of habeas corpus a sergeant was directed to go before a judge and swear out a warrant, which was done. This placed a formal charge against Freddy Frances.

Crowds Jam Courtroom.

Two o'clock came and Judge David's courtroom was crowded with curious onlookers, eager to catch a glimpse of the "man-girl" who has been identified by Mrs. Tesmer as the "terrible" man-girl who shot her husband. Three times Judge David ordered the courtroom cleared, but the bailiffs were not numerous enough. Delay in bringing in "Freddy Frances" postponed the hearing for fifteen minutes, during which all offices in the county building were vacated in favor of the hearing.

"Which is which?" asked Judge David when the space in front of the bench could be partially cleared.

"Stand up," Attorney McDonnell told Thompson.

Roughed as usual, closely shaved, false hair neatly adjusted and pinned to the bobbed hair, wearing the black dress, silk stockings, and high-heeled number 5 shoes in which "Mrs. Carrick" was taken from "her" home on Monday night, the prisoner stepped forward.

Calls Warrant Subterfuge.

"Very well, be seated," Judge David ordered. "Who represents the state?"

"Here," said Assistant State Attorney Richard E. Westbrook announced. "Here is the return."

"It declares that a warrant has been issued formally charging the relator (Thompson) with murder; then I have no jurisdiction," the court stated.

"That's a subterfuge," Attorney McDonnell shouted. "They got the warrant after your honor issued the writ."

"I'm still without power; what about the other relator?" Judge David asked.

Frank Carrick, "husband" of "Frances," stepped up. Unlike his wife, he had not received the privilege of shaving. All trace of his "madness" of the day before was gone. He and his attorney were insistent for their rights.

United States to Get Carrick Today.

It was explained to the court that the government would take charge of him today; that he was being held pending a federal warrant charging evasion of the draft, based on his affidavit that he was supporting "his wife, Mrs. Frances Carrick." Judge David, on Carrick's request, took him from police custody and remanded him to the sheriff to be produced in court at 10 o'clock this morning.

Then came further argument regarding Thompson. Attorney McDonnell pointed out that the warrant issued for $10,000 bail.

"That's preposterous," said the court. "If his murder there is no bail."

"That's the point," McDonnell said. "The police have no case."

McDonnell had sometimes referred to Freddy Frances as "him" and sometimes as "her."

"Which is it?" Judge David asked.

Three Women in Parliament

AUSTRIAN WOMAN IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT AT HOME OF H. G. WELLS

LONDON, June 22.—[United Press.]

An Austrian woman whose name is said to be Mrs. Hedwig Guttenberg, Wednesday evening, with a razor in the apartment of H. G. Wells, famous British author, and was taken to a hospital, where her condition is serious, according to a report made public today.

The woman had been a translator of several of Wells' books, and visited his flat to see him.

Wells saw her in his sitting room, he told the police, and observing that she was acting strangely, went to order a porter to summon the police.

When he returned to the flat, he said, he found the woman pacing the floor, blood streaming from a gash in her throat.

H. G. WELLS.

and McDonnell had no answer ready.

"Well, whichever it is, take her before Judge Bugee within an hour, arrange for a hearing tomorrow, and have the bail cancelled."

Police had to fight their way through the crowd with their prisoner as they crossed the building to Judge Bugee's courtroom. Judge Bugee was not there. Another judge was on the bench. He suggested going to Chief Justice Harry Olson for assignment to a judge.

A country judge was on the bench in Justice Olson's court. He directed the procession to room 920. Sweating, embarrassed policemen mistook a bailiff for a judge in room 920 and had almost presented their case when they discovered the error.

Fortunately for their composure and temperature, Judge Henry M. Walker happened in. The dilemma was explained to him. He consented to act. Bail was cancelled, the warrant docketed and set for a municipal court hearing today.

RIOT COPS QUELL GANG OF 75 WHO BEAT POLICEMAN

Riot squads from the Stockyards and Englewood stations rescued South Park Policeman John Flannigan from a gang of seventy-five young hoodlums in Sherman park last night after the youths had beaten the policeman over the head with a baseball bat, stripped him of his star and club, and torn his uniform to shreds.

Five of the gang leaders will be arraigned in the boys' court today on disorderly conduct charges. John Lennihan, 19 years old, 6552 South Green street, who is alleged to have wielded the bat, was booked on charges of assault and battery and resisting an officer.

Frequent clashes have occurred between the gang and the police recently because of the boys' refusal to obey the park rules. The trouble started when Flannigan ordered them off a walk where they were playing ball. Policemen Lorizan and Lundy ran to Flannigan's assistance and all three were fighting a losing battle with the gang when the riot squads arrived.

Boy Sees Chum Drown; Frightened, Runs Away

Ten-year-old Paul Krueger, 1621 McHenry street, led the police last night to a point near the Oak street beach and pointed out the spot where on Thursday evening, he said, he saw his playmate, Francis Sergot, 11 years old, sink while swimming. The Krueger boy was so frightened he did not return home until yesterday afternoon when he told of the drowning, then ran away again.

Turks Threaten to Quit if Peace Is Not Signed Soon

LAUSANNE, June 22.—[A. M.]—Jamil Pasha, chief of the Turkish delegation at the near east peace conference now in session here, served an ultimatum on the allies at 1 o'clock this morning, declaring that unless the conference was immediately speeded up the Turkish delegation would go home.

I. W. W. 'RUNAWAY' STRIKE TIES UP CHICAGO BUILDING

Laborers Halt $100,000-
000 Worth of Work.

Led by Martin Egan, an I. W. W. labor agitator from Seattle, caisson diggers and building laborers partly tied up $100,000,000 worth of Chicago construction at noon yesterday by an unauthorized strike.

Coincidentally with the report of the strike, announcement was made by the citizens' committee to enforce the Laidlaw award that the Sprinkler Fitters' union had been placed on an open shop working basis. The Sprinkling Fitters' union is the fourteenth building trade to be placed on an open shop basis.

Fred W. Armstrong, general manager of the citizens' committee, declared that the committee is able to cope with both situations.

Under a joint agreement between the two Chicago builders' association and the citizens' committee, the laborers' wage rate on June 1 was fixed at 82 1/2 cents an hour and caisson diggers at $1.10. Dissension among the laborers followed the fixing of their pay and the radical element of local 4 of the Laborers' union, urged on by Egan, it is said, began to form a "one big union" of laborers. It was called the United Building Laborers' union.

Secret meetings were held at 775 West Adams street and in the hall of the Carpenters' District council at 502 South State street. Radical speakers told the building workmen that laborers were entitled to $1 an hour and caisson diggers $1.25 an hour. At a meeting at the Adams street address on last Thursday night it was decided to tie up construction projects at noon yesterday.

Among the buildings halted by the walkout were the Illinois Merchants Bank building, Jackson boulevard and La Salle street; Burnham building, La Salle and Randolph streets; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy freight house, Van Buren and Clinton streets; Tribune Tower building, Michigan and Austin avenues, and the Commonwealth Edison building, 35th street and Crawford avenue. Mr. Armstrong estimated the halted work at $100,000,000.

How They Halt Building.

The caisson diggers are the first building workmen on construction. They dig wells to solid rock. Concrete is poured into the wells, which now average a depth of 125 feet. The concrete wells or caissons form the foundation for the building.

"The walkout was not authorized by the Laborers' District council," Joseph Moreschi, president, declared last night at a meeting of the Building Trades council.

"It was concocted by a few 'Red' labor agitators who, I believe, are paid agents of persons who want to see trade unionism in Chicago destroyed. I've ordered the men back on the jobs. Some of them reported for work late in the afternoon. These 'Red' trouble makers are in most cases, men working for detective agencies."

Mr. Armstrong said the Sprinkler Fitters' union had been declared open shop because its officials demanded one helper to three journeymen sprinkler fitters. He said this increased the cost of such work.

"In Chicago," he said, "the cost of installing sprinklers is between $2.50 and $3 a head, while in Milwaukee the same installation costs between 80 cents and $1.20."

FRENCH PUNISH 2 RUHR CITIES IN DRASTIC MANNER

Attack on Belgians Brings Reprisals.

ESSEN, June 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—Three Germans were killed today in different parts of the Ruhr. The first one was shot by French soldiers when he was caught doing damage to railroad tracks in the town of Lintrup. The second, one of a party of five or six Germans who attacked a German who was working for the French, was killed near Recklinghausen when French soldiers fired on the attacking party. The third was one of the two Germans who killed a Belgian corporal and a private and wounded another private near Recklinghausen yesterday when the Belgians tried to search them.

In consequence of the attack on the Belgians, the most severe penalties have been laid down for the towns of Marl and Lintrup.

Six hostages have been taken, including the burgomasters. The use of telephones has been prohibited for two weeks, there will be no street cars for three months, no coffee houses, saloons, and restaurants will be closed for three months, no one will be allowed on the streets from 8 p. m. until 6 a. m. for one month, and the moving picture theaters will remain closed.

WRITTEN REPLY URGED

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, June 22.—Some irritation developing here at the French tactics in trying to force Prime Minister Baldwin into a personal conference with Premier Poincare over the Ruhr situation before answering the British questionnaire on the French intentions.

It is felt here that the French are trying to avoid putting themselves on paper, preferring the Lloyd Georgian method of a conference where, if it was convenient, either side could forget tomorrow what it said today.

This method does not appeal to Mr. Baldwin, who is a business man and wants to know exactly what he is doing and who he is dealing with.

WONT REPLY IN WRITING

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, June 22.—Foreseeing an almost insuperable difficulty in view of the Belgian defection in making a common Franco-Belgian reply to the British questionnaire concerning the aims, intentions, and demands on Germany for solving the Ruhr problem, and realizing the practical impossibility of an unanimous allied reply to Chancellor Cuno's last memorandum, Quai d'Orsay this afternoon suddenly announced that there probably would not be a written reply to London's written request for information.

Thus, Premier Poincare's policy has suddenly switched, as for the last ten days he has been announcing daily that he was waiting for M. Theunis to form a cabinet to sign a common reply to the British questionnaire.

POLLY MADE HIS DUCKS NERVOUS; SHOOT IT; SUED

What Mrs. William Luegge's parrot said to Ferdinand Kutz when it perched on his barnyard fence in Niles Center will not become a matter of court record until today, but whatever it was it angered Kutz to the point of dusting off his trusty fowling piece and putting an end to its talkative career.

Wherefore Mrs. Luegge, who lives in Morton Grove, appeared before Justice John F. Boyer in Evanston yesterday and obtained a warrant for Kutz's arrest on a charge of "shooting a parrot worth $500."

The policeman who served the warrant said Kutz told him the parrot made his ducks nervous and he thought it was a green hawk of the swearing variety.

LAME NEWSBOY'S ARREST ROILS ELGIN PATRONS

City Aroused by Radio;
Chief Faces Suits.

Suits, alleging false arrest, will be filed at Geneva today against the chief of police and other city officials of Elgin as a result of the arrest there a few days ago of George Chase, a crippled newsboy, and Horace Kennel, a member of the firm of Kennel Bros. newspaper distributors.

Chase, who is known to thousands of residents of Elgin who patronize his stand in front of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin station in the heart of the business district, was arrested a few days ago on complaint of a Greek fruit dealer, who is said to have wanted Chase's stand removed so he might take over the news agency, Kennel was arrested when he objected to the removal of Chase's stand by the Elgin police.

Attempt to Deny Arrest.

News of Chase's arrest was broadcast by radio and a petition on behalf of the cripple is said to have been signed by 15,000 residents. When his case was called before Magistrate Dunne yesterday no one appeared to prosecute and it was even denied Chase ever had been arrested until the police records were brought into court.

The Kennel brothers, through Attorney Charles E. Erbstein, obtained a temporary injunction restraining the city officials from interfering with Chase's stand, and a hearing was to have been held to make the injunction permanent today.

"Towns Up in Arms."

"I was informed the case could not be heard until Monday, and at that time I am going to ask for a change of venue, which will necessitate a continuance until Saturday," Attorney Erbstein said last night. "This whole proceeding was a rank injustice to this poor newsboy, and the whole town seems to be up in arms in his behalf. They even denied today he was arrested at all until the records were produced. Tomorrow I'm going to file suits against every one connected with this affair."

OPPOSE PLAN TO STOP DAYLIGHT LOOP DELIVERIES

Builders Claim It Would Slow Up Construction.

Chicago contractors began laying plans yesterday to fight a proposed city ordinance which would prohibit delivery of building materials in the loop district during the day time. The ordinance was proposed by Lieut. John A. Martin, in charge of the police division, as a means of relieving loop congestion.

"There never has been a time for several years when there were more than five large structures being erected in the loop district at once," Edward M. Craig, secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, said last night.

"The interference with traffic because of building operations which require delivery and hauling of materials in day time is much less than one would imagine. Under the ordinance structural steel, cut stone and other materials would have to be hoisted and handled at night. Sufficient material would have to be handled at night to provide work for workmen the next day. If not, there would be frequent layoffs.

Charges Heavy Extra Expense.

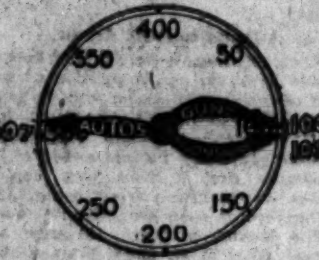

"The handling of materials at night would endanger life and would make the cost of handling almost prohibitive. It usually takes a year to complete the large type of building. Under the proposed ordinance it would require six months. This excess time would add to the cost.

"On the Illinois Merchants Bank building the additional cost in interest and charges would amount to approximately $1,200,000. On the Temple building the interest and charges would amount to $250,000, while the additional cost for handling steel and cut stone at night would amount to from $100,000 to $125,000. Loss of rents would add greatly to these sums.

Law Also Opposed.

It was said that the Building Trades council also will oppose the ordinance. It was pointed out that employment of building trades mechanics would be cut one-third because of being forced to stop work and wait for materials. Among the building associations that will oppose the ordinance are the Building Construction Employers' association of Chicago, the Associated Builders of Chicago, the Builders' Association of Chicago and the Iron Age of Chicago.

SAFETY ISLANDS URGED AT EVERY DANGER CORNER

Erection of safety islands, equipped with electric lights, at every dangerous street intersection in the city was recommended to the city council yesterday by the local transportation committee. The plan if adopted will entail an expenditure of $80,000. Ald. U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the committee, said the safety islands would serve as warnings to both pedestrians and motorists and should reduce accidents.

Henry Friedman, 1654 North Kedzie avenue, was fined $100 and costs by Police Magistrate John F. Boyer of Evanston after Policeman Robert McCaff had testified that Friedman had offered him a gallon of wine and then $5 as a "present." Friedman was charged with speeding.

Roy Bunting of Fox Lake was exonerated by a coroner's jury of responsibility for the death on June 4 of Harry Nickel, 4311 South California avenue, and Mrs. Annie Kowrowski, 16517 Calhoun avenue, who were fatally injured when Bunting's automobile collided with Nickel's in South Chicago.

FREE NONCOM. HELD AS SLAYER OF CRONKHITE

Boston, Mass., June 22.—Reversing the decision of the United States District court for Rhode Island, the United States District Court of Appeals today ordered that Roland L. Pothier, charged with the murder of Maj. Alexander P. Cronkhite at Camp Lewis, Wash., in 1918, be set free. The court upheld the contention of Pothier's counsel that the United States had not acquired legal jurisdiction in Camp Lewis at the time of Maj. Cronkhite's death. Pothier was with Maj. Cronkhite and Capt. Robert Rosenbluth, who also was charged with murder at the time the officer was killed. Pothier told several conflicting stories of the shooting, at one time confessing he shot Cronkhite at Rosenbluth's orders. Later retracting this and at another time stating he accidentally shot the major.

LEVIATHAN SETS NEW SPEED MARK ON DIGNIFIED TRIP

Steams 28 Knots, Breaking Mauretania Record.

ON BOARD STEAMER LEVIATHAN, June 22.—(Special Wireless.)—The Leviathan today established a world speed record for the competition of international shipping, when, headed homeward for New York on her trial cruise, the liner ran for five hours at 28.64 knots.

Officials were confident the liner would exceed even this record some time during the rest of the twenty-four hour maximum speed test. Announcement of the record was made to the passengers at luncheon, and evoked a noisy demonstration.

Warm Toast for Leaker. Chairman Lanker and shipping board officials were toasted (dry) by members of the party, and congressmen aboard were enthusiastic regarding the marine speed supremacy by America.

The previous speed record was held by the Mauretania—27.47 knots an hour for several hours. The Leviathan's day run up to noon, prior to the test, was 200 nautical miles at an average of 24.58 knots. The ship was steady and free from vibration, although experts say unfavorable conditions obtained in the Gulf stream.

Favorable Tests Aboard. Conditions are better in the north Atlantic, it is maintained. The usual test of the British liners in the English channel, it is contended, is aided by a six-knot current as compared to a four knot current in the Gulf stream to aid the Leviathan.

MOONSHINE LADY SEES STARS IN THIS NIGHT COURT

Judge I. L. Weaver, a country judge sitting temporarily in the night court, mopped the perspiration from his forehead last night while he looked up the law on violations of the state liquor act. Mrs. Johanna Johnson, 805 Belmont avenue, charged with having "moonshine" in her possession, smiled at the judge as he studied over his verdict.

"You are guilty, but as it is your first offense, I will let you off easy," began Judge Weaver. "I will make it $100 and sixty days in the county jail for you."

At this Mrs. Johnson fainted. When she was revived, Judge Weaver suspended the jail sentence.

FALL RESULTS IN DEATH. Injuries he received on Tuesday when he fell from the second story window of his home resulted in the death at the County hospital yesterday of Ralph Cammisa, 78 years old, 8010 South Rockwell street.

CONFIRMATION OF ARMOUR GRAIN DEAL LACKING

Baruch Tells Farmers of New York Confab.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY. New York reports of the conference of three grain magnates, J. Ogden Armour, George Macy and Bernard M. Baruch, who were trying to devise some plan of selling the Armour Grain company to farmers were not generally credited yesterday.

Mr. Baruch admitted that he and Mr. Armour had an hour and a half visit with Mr. Baruch in New York a few days ago, where they discussed the farmers' grain selling problems and listened to schemes that the financier had to offer. "But there is nothing for us to consider" in connection with the selling of Armour Grain company to producers. He added that his concern was in the business of handling grain and would be glad to handle the co-operators' shipments.

Baruch Explains His Stand. In explaining his part in the conference with Mr. Armour and Mr. Macy, Mr. Baruch, in a telegram to J. M. Mehl, secretary U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., Chicago, said:

"Of course, as you know, I have not been negotiating with Armour & Co. or any other to handle U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., product, since I have no sort of authority to do so. What I have done was to outline to many farm leaders, some of whom attended the Chicago conference (national wheat conference), a plan which seems to me a practical, short cut to cooperative marketing of enough American grain to have influence in world markets. Pursuant of my idea and acting solely as a disinterested private citizen I have discussed matters with Armour and Macy but entirely on my own responsibility."

Secretary Mehl said yesterday that the officials of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., would consider any proposition made by Mr. Baruch which he thought would bring relief to the farmer.

EVERY TAXICAB DRIVER MUST NOW GIVE BOND

In signing a law making every Chicago taxicab operator put up a liability bond of $2,500 for each cab he operates to insure patrons of financial responsibility in case of damage, Gov. Small has compelled every livery cab to operate on the same basis as a large company.

This law was intended to enable the public to collect damages from taxicabs or taxicab companies in case of accident.

"The law puts everybody on the same footing as we are," said John Hertz, president of the Yellow Cab company. "We are glad of it, because we believe the public should have financial protection no matter what cab they ride in. It will make drivers associations, which have been masquerading as responsible companies, liable at law."

HELD AS PICKPOCKET. Arrested yesterday as a suspected pickpocket, Louis Bauer, 5048 Kenmore avenue, said to have a long police record, is being held at the Central station for possible identification.

FINDS SCHOOL PRINTING BIDS SIGNED IN BLANK

Witness for State Live Up Lunding Trial.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY. Julius J. Plim, chief of the procurement of the board of education, the central figure in a situation of the school board conspiracy yesterday.

Stripped to their shirts, with knickerbockers handy to mop their perspiring brows, attorneys for the state fought a battle nearly all day yesterday in the printing of the Davis Severinghaus bid made by Plim's head.

Through Plim the state attorney to show that the Thompson board bid was not a "red flag" from the Madison-Kalchauer and Aggerbeck corner, a great amount of work was done in the printing of the school plant should have done his opening statement to the jury. Marvin Barnhart stated that this work was being done while the school plant was "idle."

Idly Only Part of Time. The state did not prove this at a cross examination showed the state was not idle at any time, the printers were often working during the months and in question. Mr. Plim did not deny that he was not permitted to form plates of school report card he had previously done. On the hand, his office got a big new printing of the school board press. "Work never given to it," this board came into power.

One point was made by the which brought a vicious attack on the witness. This was when told of finding half a dozen quotation sheets, which bore the name of the MacDonald-Kalchauer company. Vernon MacDonald, who Plim admitted that the sign was genuine.

State's View of Blanks. There was no explanation offered this except the state's explanation that the blanks were kept in the hands of the printer, who had been friends of this printing company. This was when the school board had other bids been found. The blank and bid sheets were found in a bundle of papers that belonged to Mr. MacDonald-Kalchauer company.

Examined on this point by Attorney Dady, the witness testified: Q—What did you find? A—Ten sheets, some signed, some blank except for the signature. Q—What signature? A—The Donald-Kalchauer company. Q—What did you do with them? A—I put them all back except one.

This one, a green sheet, was signed by Mr. Campbell to Assistant Attorney Gorman. Mr. Plim said he was asked to inquire for 20,000 copies of the school board bid. The bid was for which the board paid the price company $534. Later the bid was shown another job. The state claims was identical in form, for which the Cameron-Aggerbeck company only charged $119. Plim claimed this job was made, as it came after the indictment. Attorney Clarence Darrow in speech about this, pointing out that the bid was identical in form, and stating that the trial would all summer if such comparison allowed. Attorney Hobart Plim said that it was evidence of conspiracy to control printing for a favored bid. The court ruled out the second bid.

FINDS SCHOOL PRINTING BIDS SIGNED IN BLANK

Witness for State Lively
Up Lundin Trial.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Julius J. Plum, chief of the printing department of the board of education, was the central figure in a sizzling session of the school board conspiracy trial yesterday.

Stripped to their shirts, with handkerchiefs handy to mop their perspiring brows, attorneys for the state and defense battled nearly all day over evidence given by Plum, which had to do with changes in the printing office after the Davis-Severinghaus board had made John Campbell examiner printing over Plum's head.

Through Plum the state attempted to show that the Thompson board gave out to "red flag" firms, the MacDonald-Kaltchuck and Agnew-Beck company, a great amount of work that the school plant should have done. In his opening statement to the jury Attorney Marvin Barnhart stated that while this work was being sent outside the school plant was "idle."

Idle Only Part of Time.
The state did not prove this point, as cross examination showed that the plant was not idle at any time. In fact, the printers were often working overtime during the months and years in question. Mr. Plum did say that the big presses were partly idle and that he was not permitted to print form plates of school report cards, as he had previously done. On the other hand, his office got a big new job, the printing of the school board proceedings, a work never given to it before this board came into power.

One point was made by the state which brought a vicious attack upon the witness. This was when Plum told of finding half a dozen blank quotation sheets, which bore the signature of the MacDonald-Kaltchuck company. Vernon MacDonald, who was in court, admitted that the signature was genuine.

State's View of Blanks.
There was no explanation offered for this except the state's explanation that the blanks were kept handy, so that the right bids could be inserted by friends of this printing concern in the school board after other bids had been opened. The blank and signed bid sheets were found in a bundle of papers that belonged to Mr. Campbell. Examined on this point by Attorney Ralph Dady, the witness testified:

Q—What did you find? A—"Quotation sheets, some signed, one-half dozen blank except for the signature. Q—What signature? A—"The MacDonald-Kaltchuck company. Q—What did you do with them? I put them all back except one.

This one, a green sheet, was given to Mr. Campbell to Assistant State's Attorney Gorman.

Mr. Plum said he was asked to O. K. an order for 10,000 copies of school speakers printed by this concern, and did not do so because it was "not regular." This is the printing job the state claims was $2,000 too high.

Quizzed on Ruled Paper Job.

The witness was next asked about an order for 10,000 sheets of ruled paper for which the board paid the Agnew-Beck company $334. Later the witness was shown another job which the state claims was identical in character, for which the Cameron-Amberg company only charged $119. The defense claimed this job was inadmissible, as it came after the indictment.

Attorney Clarence Darrow made a speech about this, pounding the desk and stating that the trial would last all summer if such comparisons were allowed. Attorney Hobart P. Young said that it was evidence of conspiracy to control printing for a favored few. The court ruled out the second ex-

FATHER O'BRIEN'S SILVER JUBILEE HELD TOMORROW

The silver jubilee of the Rev. Francis M. O'Brien, pastor of St. Thomas of Canterbury Catholic church, 4835 Kenmore more avenue, will be celebrated tomorrow, Father O'Brien will celebrate solemn high mass at 11 o'clock. For seventeen years he was assistant pastor of Holy Name church (Haldenon Photo). He was a chaplain at the county jail. In 1915 he was appointed to organize his present parish, with the result that in five years the property was purchased and a $150,000 obligation fully paid. Visiting and neighbor priests will assist in the ceremonies.

hibit temporarily.

Mr. Plum, asked about the manner in which his regime had been interfered with, said:

"The plant was running full capacity practically all the time before Campbell came. After that the presswork fell off considerably. I talked with Mr. Campbell, Mr. For-berg, Mr. Krenzel and Mr. Davis about it. Mr. Forsberg said it was his plan to keep the plant busy all the time. When work was sent outside the bills came in and were charged up to the printing shop. I told him the outside firms were making excessive charges, and that made it look as though I was making excessive charges. I spoke to Campbell about it also, but he said he did not think the work was costing too much."

Grilled by Short.

Attorney Ben J. Short attacked the witness on the theory that he had read private papers and had sneaked one out in the matter of the green quotation sheet.

The witness appealed to the court and asked if he were required to answer such questions, but he had to submit.

Q—Did you take anything else out of Mr. Campbell's papers? A—Yes, some estimate blanks.

Q—Were you friendly with Campbell? A—Not all the time.

Q—Did you lay off any help in 1920 and 1921 on account of lack of work? A—No. The pressmen and feeders needed more work. The compositors were busy, some getting overtime. We needed more work for the cylinder pressmen. We had the plates there.

Q—What plates? A—Report cards.

Q—Were the schools short of these? A—Yes. And I did not get the order to do it.

Gets Job of Printing Proceedings.

Attorney P. H. O'Donnell brought out that no one had been laid off for two and a half years and that the big job of printing board proceedings was given to him by the Davis board.

Q—And yet you got us indicted, saying the plant was idle while work was going outside? A—I did not.

Q—It is not true that these machines were idle? A—It is not true.

Q—Who was responsible for spreading that lie? A—I do not know.

Q—You believe some one intended to write in that blank bid? A—I have my suspicion, yes.

Q—Did Fred Lundin ever ask you for anything? A—No.

TWICE KIDNAPED BRIDE RESTS ON AMERICAN RIGHT

Up at 1125 Milton street last night Joseph Barone told assembled relatives how he intends to punish a willful daughter who has so far forgotten the traditions of Sicily as to wish to choose her own husband.

Down at the juvenile detention home 17 year old Josephine Barone informed the matron that she will tell the juvenile court today, she will tell her cousin, Sam Sciatta, she will tell the world, that she is an American girl and will wed when, how, and whom it pleases her. And in a newly furnished flat at 1612 Larrabee street Sciatta sat alone, fingering a marriage certificate showing he had been married to Josephine by a justice of the peace in Kentucky. While he had waited at St. Philip's Roman Catholic church for Josephine to appear and go through another ceremony—a church ceremony this time—Josephine was in the office of Assistant State's Attorney William J. Grace telling him how tired she was of being kidnapped. She told of two kidnappings. Today, when all the relatives are assembled in the juvenile court, Attorney Grace probably will ask that the girl's marriage to Sciatta be annulled.

OAK ST. BEACH AGAIN SWARMS; NO FACILITIES

Bundesen Tests Water to Prevent Infection.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Oak street beach is again swarming with bathers, but dressing rooms, clothing lockers, and toilet facilities are just as over-crowded as ever. Ald. Dorsey Crowe, who for years has been working for decent accommodations for the beach, says the idea of a bathhouse, even of a temporary one, is dead.

EUGENE R. PIKE.

It is dead, due to the opposition of property owners on the Lake Shore drive. Eugene R. Pike, head of the Lincoln park board, says the frontage owners will not even permit the erection of a concession building under the trees and hidden by shrubbery. The Ohio street beach proposal is knocked out by refusal of the federal government to grant a permit. But it has not been abandoned. Suggestions that beach buildings be put up at North avenue have been renewed and so has the proposal for a jettty to create a beach the entire length of the shore from North avenue to Oak street. But North avenue is more than half a mile from Oak street and the water is deep, while walking over hot concrete pavement is not so pleasant. And it would take at least a year for the beach to fill in all the way.

Purify Beach Water.

Greater vigilance than ever will be exercised against the effects upon bathers of water pollution. Health Commissioner Bundesen is working in close conjunction with the park board and the municipal beaches. Samples of water were taken at all the beaches yesterday. They were pronounced satisfactory. Whenever the tests show contamination, boats will be used in chlorinating the water. Chlorine gas is placed in the water from the boats and oxidizes the bacteria. Especial attention will be paid to Oak street, due to the lack of toilet houses.

The sands of the Gold Coast, from Oak to Division street, during the hot, four days and nights have had a total of more than 25,000 bathers, so the officials estimate. But the night breeze so far have swept away most of the pollution. Dr. Bundesen says a good northwest wind can accomplish more in three-quarters of an hour in purifying beach waters than artificial means could in a week.

Cities Old Epidemic.

The health commissioner called attention to the epidemic of skin diseases and eruptions from which bathers suffered four or five years ago, due to polluted water. "It was caused," he said, "by the fact that for five weeks we had blistering hot weather, which made the germs multiply, while not a breeze blew and the water for five weeks was absolutely stagnant. Now, however, we intend to overcome this by artificial means. "Let's trust that we'll get frequent breezes," said Ald. Dorsey Crowe, "for all chances of getting decent toilet facilities for Oak street seem dead. The property owners along the drive are opposed to the building even of temporary structures that could be removed at the close of the season."

Shore Contract Ironclad.

"Under the contract between the Lincoln park board and the shore line owners, which was made twenty-five or thirty years ago, no buildings can be placed along the shore. The courts have upheld this. Years ago there was a test case. The park board put up a building just south of North avenue and property owners brought suit and the board had to move the building north of the line. No structure can be put up on the shore without the consent of the frontage owners, and they have refused to grant it."

"The Women's City club made a canvas, but it was impossible to get the consent. So we are blocked and Oak street beach, if we should have a doldrum period as five years ago, would become a menace to the crowds that swarm to it as their most accessible beach. Let's hope for regular breezes."

bie beach. Let's hope for regular breezes."

Park Board Blocked.

"I was for getting hold of a vacant lot near Oak street and putting up the necessary facilities there," said Mr. Pike. "But civic organizations said it would result in too great a danger at the boulevard crossovers. The board is blocked. The property owners refuse to give consent even for a subterranean bathhouse, which could be concealed by bushes, and if the board put up structures without consent it would be a violation of the contract and would place in jeopardy the riparian rights which the frontage owners relinquished to the park board."

Open Up Street Ends.

Twenty-four street and bathing beaches will be opened to the public tomorrow as the result of "clean-up" orders issued yesterday by Commissioner of Public Works A. A. Sprague. Beginning at Bitter Sweet place, the following street ends will be transformed into beaches: Gordon terrace, Buena avenue, Almslie street, Margate terrace, Glenlyle place, Winona street, and Bryn Mawr, Hollywood, Ardmore, Thorndale, Rosemont, Devon, Albion, Fairwell, Morse, Lunt, Greenleaf, Estes, Chase, Sherwin, Jarvis, and Fargo avenues, and Sheridan road.

West park swimming pools are to be opened to the public on June 30, according to John A. Polka, secretary of the West Chicago park commission. The pools, towels and bathing suits will be free. Different days will be assigned for men and women.

CAVERLY CHIEF JUSTICE; CUSTOM BARS M'KINLEY

Philip L. Sullivan Named
Circuit Bench Head.

Judge John R. Caverly was elected chief justice of the Criminal court yesterday at a joint meeting of judges of the Circuit and Superior courts, which followed separate meetings of each court at which selections were made of judges who will sit in the Criminal court and of those who will hear the divorce, chancery, and law calendars. The youngest judge on the Superior and Circuit court benches, Judge Philip L. Sullivan, was elected chief justice of the Criminal court. His term and Judge Caverly's will begin in the fall, when they will succeed Judges Francis S. Wilson and Michael L. McKinley, respectively.

Custom Bars McKinley.

Custom forbade the reappointment of Superior Judge McKinley as chief justice for another year, since each year the position is filled alternately by a Circuit and a Superior court judge.

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath was returned by his colleagues to the divorce court, where he has achieved a national reputation. Judge John J. Sullivan will hear divorce cases in Superior court.

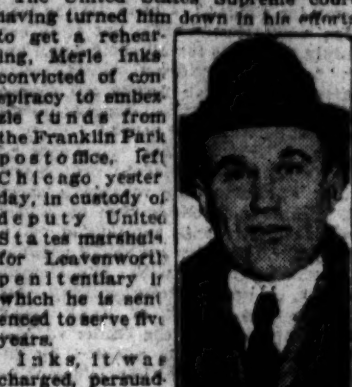

Superior Judges Timothy D. Hurley, Walter P. Steffen, and Harry A. Lewis have been assigned from the Superior court to the criminal bench, to relieve Judges Oscar Hebel, Marcus Kavanaugh, and McKinley. The chancellors for the Superior court remain Judges Denis E. Sullivan and Charles M. Foell. The executive committee was renamed, consisting of Chief Justice Joseph B. Davis and Judges Denis E. Sullivan and Hugo Farn.

Judge Rush Transferred.

The executive committee of the Circuit court will be made up of Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan and Judges John A. Swanson and Ira J. Ryner. Circuit Judge George Fred Rush, at his request, was transferred from the chancery division and assigned to hear a common law calendar. Judge Francis S. Wilson will take up Judge Rush's chancery call. There were no other changes in the Circuit court.

KHAKI SHIRTS, WITH HELMETS TO COOL POLICE

Within a week Chicago's traffic policemen and desk lieutenants will be equipped with khaki blouse shirts and tropical pith helmets, picked yesterday by Chief of Police Morgan Collins and his advisory committee, Capt. Matthew Zimmer, William Russell, and Acting Capt. John Martin, as standard hot weather dress for the department.

"Heretofore it has been sacrilegious to suggest discarding the old police blue, brass buttons, and high collars," said Chief Collins. "But we are in a progressive age, and when policemen topple over from the heat, tradition must give way. Should the experiment prove successful, the entire department will don the blouses and helmets this summer and, no doubt, next summer, khaki trousers will be added."

BILL PAVES WAY TO STRAIGHTEN SOUTH BRANCH

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Probably the most beneficial legislation given Chicago by the retiring general assembly was that yielding the state's title to the river bed of the south branch between Polk and 17th streets, if the city provides a new straightened channel to take the place of the discarded stretch. This surpluses in (Waninger Photo.) benefit to the municipality the power granted it to tax practically all businesses, except transportation and building.

The Chicago railway terminal commission is pleased with the enabling legislation. Chairman W. F. Lippe will call a session of the commission next week to discuss preparation of an ordinance to straighten the river and open through the network of tracks bounded by streets between Van Buren, 18th, Canal, and State.

Bill Last One Presented.

Mr. Lippe's hope of progress lies principally in the legislation acquired. It has been the contention of various lawyers and legislators that the state would have no title to the bed of the river if it is abandoned and filled in. They believe that the filled-in river bed would automatically revert to abutting property owners. Therefore the legislature quickly granted the commission's request. This bill was the last one presented to the legislature. It did not get in until June 12, had its three readings and roll calls in each house, and was engrossed ready for the governor's consideration six days later.

The railway terminal commission believes that by this bill the city will acquire real title to the bed of the river. Part of the old river to be abandoned is in the original section in that originally was granted by the federal government to the state for school purposes.

Believe State Has Title.

The commissioners believe that the school board sold only the land to private owners and did not sell the river. Consequently, it is their view that the entire title to the bed of the river lies in the state of Illinois.

But this section No. 18 is bounded on the south by Roosevelt road. The next section south, No. 21, was granted by the federal government to the trustees of the Illinois and Michigan canal for canal purposes. The terminal commissioners are almost certain that the canal commissioners retained for the state title to the bed of the river, because that was part of the water way connecting the canal with Lake Michigan.

So the terminal commissioners believe that the legislature, by passage of the bill, conveyed a real asset to the city, which it can use for obtaining a right of way for a straight channel.

liner Baltic. She took the waterfront by surprise. Shipping officers—except her own—were ignorant of the fact that she contemplated a showdown. Both Berengaria and Baltic were allowed to pass through quarantine and proceed to their docks. Then came from the custom house word that nothing would be done until the captain had appeared with their manifests and applied for permits to retain enough liquor for medicinal purposes. After this, it was said, any surplus would be seized.

What One Ship Carries.
The Berengaria's manifest showed she had under seal in addition to her medical liquor supply, 110 1-2 gallons of spirits, 101 1-2 gallons of wine, and 5,588 bottles of ale and porter. Passengers said they had had a pleasantly wet trip, ending with a ball last night, but when they rose this morning looking for an "eye opener," they found everything sealed tight. Passengers with pocket flasks were in great demand.

Davy Jones stowed away many quarts in his locker as a result of the treasury department's ruling, however, for the Berengaria and Baltic both tossed overboard at the three mile limit all the liquor provided for the westbound voyage which the passengers could not drink. This was done with appropriate ceremonies aboard the Berengaria. Passengers lined the rails at midnight and with bowed heads lowered into the deep a bottle of champagne wrapped in crepe and inscribed: "To the three mile limit."

Today Comes the Deluge.
With two wet Britishers already on their hands, customs officials tomorrow face another deluge. Due in port is the French liner Paris. Before it set sail it was announced that it carried in its hold many a cocktail shaker for the homeward voyage and that on this select locker had been placed

Seek "Brains" of Booze "Shakedown"; Nab Typist

Deputy United States marshals last night searched the resorts of the underworld for Harry Nadie, alleged to have directed a wholesale "shakedown" scheme by which he defrauded Chicago druggists of large sums. The warrant for Nadie named also Miss Katherine Mauer, confidential stenographer in the offices of A. R. Harris, division chief of prohibition agents. Miss Mauer, said to have purloined the government records upon which Nadie engineered his game, was taken into custody, arraigned before United States Commissioner Glas, and released on her own recognizance but under surveillance.

20 Barrels of Beer Seized.
A truckload of beer—20 barrels—was confiscated by prohibition officers yesterday afternoon at Willow street and Belmont avenue. Three men, who gave their names as Joseph Kaufman, John Koepf, and John Neiman, who were on the truck, were arrested.

Assistant United States Attorney John E. Byrne filed a petition in Federal Judge Cliffe's court asking that Attorney Jay J. McCarthy and Peter Caruso be cited for contempt of court in connection with the substitution of Robert Chapman as defendant in a case against Carmela Nicotro, charged with violation of the liquor law.

Set Date for Hearing.
The petition alleged that Attorney McCarthy and Caruso persuaded Chapman to plead guilty to the charge against Nicotro, paying him $100. Judge Cliffe set June 26 as the day for the two to appear and show cause why they should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court.

Sam Howard, chief deputy United States marshal, said last night he had men at every resort where Nadie might be expected. Nadie's alleged fraud was furthered, it is said, by credentials he obtained the seal of the French government. And after tomorrow more deluge for the ships arriving today confirmed report that following in their wake were many other foreign craft, all anxious to test the dry decision.

Newspaper men massed at quarantine early this morning to see what Uncle Sam would do to the wet Berengaria. They were permitted after they had recovered from their astonishment at the Baltic's arrival, to view its liquor cache.

The homeward bound supply was stored in a forward hold. The wet goods were separated from food supplies by a paneled wall, through which reporters could see malt liquors stacked in boxes and wines in wicker baskets.

What the Scribes Observed.
The Baltic's eastbound liquor supply comprised 5,720 bottles of beer and ale, 395 bottles of spirits, 119 bottles of wine, 38 bottles of liquors. On the largest gate to the compartment was the customs seal of Liverpool—a seal of red wax on a narrow strip of white tape, with the crown of England. Three in number were these seals. A fourth covered a small exit.

The Baltic sailed on June 13, three days after the ruling went into effect. It was understood that the liquor was taken on as the result of a decision on the part of British, French, Scandinavian and Italian lines to make a concerted attack on the dry rules.

JAPAN MAY RETALIATE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
HONOLULU, June 22.—The Nippon Jiji, a local Japanese paper, says Ambassador Hanihara has been instructed to call the attention of the American state department to the fact that Japanese law forbids the importation of tobacco and explosives, and that if the American prohibition law is applied to Japanese ships, Japan could retaliate by forcing American vessels to throw overboard at the three mile limit of Japan all explosives and tobacco.

I wonder if Dorothy Richardson is yet known in America. Her novels are like no other novels that have ever been written. Nothing ever happens in them and each is a careful revelation, written with infinite pains, of the character of a very ordinary and rather uninteresting young woman called Miriam Henderson. Miss Richardson goes her own way indifferent to criticism, steadily accumulating a public, disdainful of anything like publicity. No photograph of her, for example, has ever been published. She is never to be met at literary parties. She has never been interviewed nor have any of her personal habits been recorded. Writing of her latest novel, "Revolving Lights," Virginia Woolf writes: "A sentence that you might call the psychological sentence of the feminine gender." I have not the least idea what that means, but it is certainly true that for all their detail and the fact that they are absolutely static, Miss Richardson's novels are always interesting, I suppose because they are concerned with real people.

Mr. Robert Nichols, who now occupies Lafayette Hall's professorial chair at Tokyo, has written a series of tales of imagination that have been published here with the title of "Fantasia." The tales are really parables modern, written with considerable beauty, original, a little puzzling. Mr. Nichols has a gift of irony which sometimes reminds the reader of Anatole France. He is affected by the Wells gospel that, without efficient organization, man must perish. And he is a Christian democrat in his contention that all men are "born to possess God." More than all these things, Mr. Nichols is a distinguished literary artist.

John Galsworthy says that he sleeps for seven and a half hours on an average. Israel Zangwill is content with seven hours. Stephen McKenna declares that he never gets as much sleep as he needs, and generally has to be content with six hours. J. C. Squire has eight hours' sleep regularly. G. K. Chesterton says: "I like as much sleep as I can get, and as I go to bed very late I invariably get up very late."

Edmund Gosse has published another volume of collected literary essays; the ninth volume that he has issued. And all of them are readable and helpful.

A Paris publishing firm has presented each of its "best sellers" with a motor car as a token of its gratitude. Neither Coleridge nor Wordsworth was a hero to his contemporaries. The "Farington Diary," commenting on a volume of Coleridge's poems, says: "The whole strange as it seemed contemptible." And a pamphlet by Wordsworth is dismissed as "a very poor performance, too heavy to be read through."

BOOKS

American Novels
Attract English
Readers, Claim

BY SIDNEY DARE.

[Editor of John's London Weekly.]
I notice that a writer in the Boston Evening Transcript says: "I think it is true that except 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' and 'Ben Hur,' the only American novel that has had any considerable sale in England is Sinclair Lewis' 'Babbalanja.' As a matter of fact, it is monstrously untrue, and an example of the statements that give America an entirely false idea of this country. My friend Clement Shorter has made the statement that over a million copies of Penmore Cooper's 'The Last of the Mohicans' have been sold in England, and I do not think it is an overstatement. Mark Twain and Bret Harte sold largely here a generation ago, and still sell. Old time American books like 'The Wide, Wide World,' 'Queechy' and 'The Lamplighter,' sold here in tens of thousands, and in recent times anything by O. Henry and all the 'Tarnish of the Ages' series have been English 'best sellers.' Tens of thousands of copies of 'The Scarlet Letter' have been sold in England. The novels of W. D. Howells are also in steady demand and Gertrude Atherton, Winston Churchill, Edith Wharton, not to mention the moderns, all have an English market. It is probably still true that English fiction is more read in America than American fiction is read in England, but England is certainly not so unresponsive to American writing as the Boston Evening Transcript would have you believe.

A. S. M. Hutchinson is busy with a new novel, which is to be published in England and America in the spring of 1924. This autumn Hutchinson is to publish a volume of short stories called "The Eighth Wonder."

W. J. Locke's next story, due in the autumn, will be called "Mordeaus and Company."

I wonder if Dorothy Richardson is yet known in America. Her novels are like no other novels that have ever been written. Nothing ever happens in them and each is a careful revelation, written with infinite pains, of the character of a very ordinary and rather uninteresting young woman called Miriam Henderson. The tales are really parables modern, written with considerable beauty, original, a little puzzling. Mr. Nichols has a gift of irony which sometimes reminds the reader of Anatole France. He is affected by the Wells gospel that, without efficient organization, man must perish. And he is a Christian democrat in his contention that all men are "born to possess God." More than all these things, Mr. Nichols is a distinguished literary artist.

John Galsworthy says that he sleeps for seven and a half hours on an average. Israel Zangwill is content with seven hours. Stephen McKenna declares that he never gets as much sleep as he needs, and generally has to be content with six hours. J. C. Squire has eight hours' sleep regularly. G. K. Chesterton says: "I like as much sleep as I can get, and as I go to bed very late I invariably get up very late."

Edmund Gosse has published another volume of collected literary essays; the ninth volume that he has issued. And all of them are readable and helpful.

A Paris publishing firm has presented each of its "best sellers" with a motor car as a token of its gratitude. Neither Coleridge nor Wordsworth was a hero to his contemporaries. The "Farington Diary," commenting on a volume of Coleridge's poems, says: "The whole strange as it seemed contemptible." And a pamphlet by Wordsworth is dismissed as "a very poor performance, too heavy to be read through."

OBITUARY.
Mrs. Carrie C. Springer
Dies at Summer Home
Mrs. Carrie C. Springer, 84 years old, a pioneer Chicagoan and widow of George A. Springer, one of Chicago's first real estate dealers, died yesterday at her summer home at Rosier Brook, Mich. Mrs. Springer, who was prominently associated with Chicago's early families, was one of the founders of the Forty-first Street Presbyterian church, founded in 1871 and now the First Presbyterian church. She is survived by four daughters and three sons. The body will be brought to Chicago for burial and services will be held on Monday afternoon at 2:30 from Graceland chapel.

Edward R. Potter, 65,
Famous Sculptor, Dies
Greenwich, Conn., June 22.—Edward R. Potter, sculptor, died at his summer home in New London last night. Mr. Potter had executed many famous pieces of sculpture, notably the equestrian statues of Grant at Philadelphia, Washington at Paris, Hooker at Boston, Devens at Worcester, Mass.; Slocum at Gettysburg, two animal groups in the library of J. P. Morgan, and a statue of Gov. Blair at the White House in Michigan. He produced statuary for the St. Louis and Buffalo exhibitions. He was 65 years of age.

Edward Francis Connor,
Native of Evanston, Dies
Edward Francis Connor, 82 years old, a lifelong resident of Evanston, where he was born, died from heart disease yesterday at his home, 1567 Maple avenue. He lived with his brother, James Connor, for many years. He had been a bookkeeper in the hardware store of his cousin, Thomas Connor, in Evanston, and had a great local reputation as a skilled accountant.

STATE AT JACKSON

JACK CRUSHES GIANT'S JAW IN TRAINING BOUT

SEEK BOUT STOPPED

ANACONDA, Mont., June 22.—Acting on the suggestion of various speakers who attacked the forthcoming Dempsey-Gibbons prize fight at Shelby, the resolutions committee of the Montana State Federation of Women's Clubs, in session here, submitted for approval at the closing session of the convention this afternoon a resolution calling upon the attorney general to take action.

The resolution stated that an inquiry conducted during the convention had revealed a failure of the boxing commission law to repeal section 11593 of the penal code for prize fights.

Helena, Mont., June 22.—The Dempsey-Gibbons world's heavy-weight championship battle, which is to be fought at Shelby on July 4, is "absolutely certain," said the Montana Baptist convention, in resolutions adopted at the closing session here yesterday.

BY HUGH FULLERTON.
Great Falls, Mont., June 22.—(Special.)—Jack Dempsey showed his stuff today and when the casualties had been catalogued it was found that one sparring bout and a broken jaw, one had been put to sleep, and several others were suffering sundry cuts and bruises. Big Ben Wray, who toured from Bayre, Okla., to take on the champion, is the gent with the broken jaw, and those who think that Dempsey is losing power are referred to him.

Wray, who is 7 feet 2 and weighs 245, was present for forty-eight seconds until Dempsey shot over a left hook, high and pulled, and Big Ben heard a thousand alarm clocks. He added another great fall to those already ready, and it took him almost as long to fall as he was in the ring.

Wray, a huge fellow, came 2,000 miles for the satisfaction of seeing how hard Dempsey could hit. And after the crash the champion lifted him to his feet and he shambled around, still dizzy and helpless until John W. Kane, who was refereeing, led him out.

A medical examination later revealed that Wray's lower maxillary bone had been broken. It takes quite a punch to break a jawbone with a sixteen ounce glove.

Jack Has Good Workout.
Dempsey had the best day's work he has had and he put it to the benefit of the 1,000 Shriners, who are in convention here, and who made the grade over the drying roads to the camp. Dempsey went two rounds with Godfrey, the big colored boxer who gives him the toughest sparring.

Godfrey, the big colored boxer who gives him the toughest sparring, beat him to the punch, but in the second round Dempsey cut loose and landed his right repeatedly without a return.

Dempsey told me today that he weighs now just over 180, and that the report that he is down to 182 is wrong. Neither he nor Kearns like the propaganda that is being circulated to the effect that Dempsey is far off form.

As a matter of fact, Dempsey, as I see him, is a better and heavier fighter than he ever was. He has matured, he is heavier on the upper arm and shoulder, slightly heavier on the upper leg, but otherwise in better shape than he has been since the Toledo affair.

He seems to have changed his style somewhat, and he is not shifting as he did.

Doing More Training.
I spent a couple hours with Dempsey today inspecting him and cannot see a sign of going back. He is more mature, does more thinking, and has more purpose in his work than he has done in other training. I have no idea that he is not getting enough work, and he frankly says he ought to have more real fighting. That has been one of his kicks ever since he became champion—he doesn't like exhibition work, wants to cut loose and fight his way to perfection. The sparring partners cannot stand it.

Great Falls continued to dry out to hit today and the roads to the camp were passable. By noon the Shriners were swarming to the camp. Dempsey took a jog in the morning but the mud and rain washed roads made the going tough. The boxing was the outdoors.

The Shelby promoters are expected to arrive in Great Falls tomorrow, when it is hoped the muddled business affairs will be straightened out. They are still milling around about preliminaries. Mike Collins went to Shelby to try to finish the job but is expected back tomorrow.

Talk of heavy ticket sales all over the country falls on deaf ears. However, there are enough true reports of sales to indicate that interest is picking up.

Johnny Kilbane got in today. He is working for a newspaper syndicate.

TICKET BUYER A HERO

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

Shelby, Mont., June 22.—(Special.)—There was a lot of excitement in this little town today afternoon, before Tommy Gibbons set out for his training camp to go through his daily stunt in preparing for his jam with that Jack Dempsey guy on July 4.

Seems that some of the shrewdest in the press department of the racket and actually ordered a brace of tickets. The same guy, funny enough, showed some real cash for the duets. Well, they came near being a waste of money. There's about as much excitement here over that coming fuse between Dempsey and Gibbons as there would be in Redbank, N. J., over an indoor yacht race.

No Big Gate Yet.

What is the sense of trying to kid any one about having million dollar gates and other queer little thoughts? Unless there is a decided brace on the whole thing they had better yell after the cops to clean up the dump.

While the boys in charge of the show do not appear to be getting over very big, the two fighters are working like Trojans for the big scrap. Tommy Gibbons stepped out this afternoon at

Shelby Parades by Richard's Bed as He Fain Would Sleep

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

Shelby, Mont., June 22.—(Special.)—Sleep is an unknown quantity in Shelby. The entire city of Shelby formed in parade and passed through the hazy streets of the Hotel Shelby from 9 o'clock in the evening until after 10 this morning.

Included in the parade were the automobile tourists, the commercial club, visiting clergymen, visiting fight fans, visiting citizens of Great Falls, visiting correspondents, and visiting firemen. The only thing the parade lacked was the Shelby Silver Cornet band and school children on floats singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

At 9 o'clock in the evening the parade, like a quiet night and your correspondent sought his bed in room three of the Hotel Shelby. I had just got nicely settled when the first delegation entered and sat all over the three beds.

"Have a Drink."
The first delegation was composed of prominent citizens of Shelby on foot and horseback. The prominent citizens carried banners and bottles and gave three rousing cheers for Shelby for Col. Gibbons, the v. K. prize fighter, for Montana, the greatest and most glorious state in the union, and for the Stars and Stripes.

The delegation declared that Shelby was the greatest city in all the many states which go to make up the United States. Secondly, the Shelby delegation said, "Have a drink." Shelby was the only town in the country that had the "guts" to put up five hundred thousand dollars for the argument between Mr. Dempsey and Mr. Gibbons. Fourth, the Shelby delegation said, "Have a drink."

Fifthly, the delegation allowed that while the controllable, only to be mentioned with a sneer, city known as Great Falls claims to have saved the fight, it was Jim Johnson and the O'Neill brothers of Shelby who mortgaged everything they had, including their teeth brushes, to raise the money needed to put the fight over. Sixthly, the Shelby delegation said, "Have a drink."

Mr. Kane Says—
The next delegation to appear was led by Mr. Eddie Kane, the manager of Col. Gibbons, and a large retinue of fistic gentlemen who are engaged as human punching bags for Col. Gibbons.

Mr. Kane said he was satisfied there was a new champion after July 4, and that champion would be Col. Gibbons.

Thomas Gibbons, also that the new champion would be the most popular owner of the title ever known in our glorious country. Mr. Kane said he had only words of good will and kindness for Col. Dempsey, but that Col. Gibbons had such a lovely personality, coupled with a deadly left hook, the child or the gizzard or the fifth rib, that Col. Dempsey would be obliged to relinquish his proud title as heavy-weight champion of the world.

The human punching bags took up the gladsome chorus and told how hard it was for them to land on the elusive body of Col. Gibbons. Each and every one of them admitted that when it came to manhandling the child or the gizzard he was the modern his outdoor training quarters after a spell in the dumps yesterday, due to a fierce rain that came near swampy the town.

The partially healed cold sores on Gibbons' lower lip were split open today and the challenger's mouth was bleeding when he ended his workout. Jimmy Delaney walloped him in the face, as they came out of a clinch and the sores which kept Gibbons from working out Wednesday were opened.

Tom Has Outside Chance.

The work this afternoon was the usual dose. Rope skipping, shadow boxing, and a twist at the heavy bag preceded the boxing stunts with the rugged "Bud" Gorman and the other members of the camp.

While Gibbons was going through his work with Gorman we could not help but draw a mental comparison of the two fighters who will face one another at the big arena on Independence day. Dempsey has every advantage over the game and willing Gibbons. The only thing that Gibbons might have on the champion is in cleverness. Yet you must hand Gibbons an outside chance.

Here's Place Where They Do Skiing on July 4th

Seattle, Wash., June 22.—Nels Nelson, son of Reveltoke, B. C., champion amateur ski jumper of the world, is to build a ski course in Paradise valley, Rainier National park this week for the park's sixth annual ski tournament.

July 3 and 4. Nelson promises a course that will insure jumps of 200 feet. The ski jumping will take place on the slopes of Mount Rainier, where there is perpetual snow.

TRIBUTE DECISIONS

Decisions of The Tribune boxing representatives yesterday were: At Philadelphia, Pa.—Bobby Barrett beat Carl Della (5); Charlie Ray beat Neal McFadden (5).

At Boston—Paul Reed beat Joe Ryan. At Stamford, Conn.—Louis Goshag stopped George Shado (15).

At Globe, Ariz.—Bill Runefelt stopped Frankie Herrera (7).

Low Tandler, the Philadelphia south-paw matched to meet Sailor Freedman of Chicago in the windup of Floyd Fitzsimmons' boxing show at Michigan City on July 4, will arrive in Chicago Wednesday, according to Manager Phil Gleason. Tandler will work at the Arcade for two days before going to Michigan City.

As Tandler is matched to meet Benie Leonard for the lightweight championship in New York on July 23, the Quaker city miller must win the popular verdict over Freedman.

Tough Job for Sailor.
In order to dispute Tandler's right to chance at the title, Freedman is training like a Trojan. He wants to stop Tandler so that he may be substituted for the Philadelphia boy in the championship franchise. Accomplishing this aim, however, is another thing to wishing it, especially against a fighter of the Tandler type.

Promoter Fitzsimmons reports a lot of interest in the small towns close to Michigan City, and expects to fill comfortably his sky blue arena. Tickets are on sale at 129 North Dearborn street and 183 North Clark street.

Freedman Arrives Today.
Michigan City, Ind., June 22.—(Special.)—Sailor Freedman's training quarters are ready for the Chicago lightweight contender's arrival here tomorrow afternoon. Freedman, his wife, manager and trainer will occupy Dune side cottage on Sheridan beach.

Following this, Tandler will remain in training for his fight with Johnny Sheppard and before his scheduled fight in Indianapolis on the night of July 3.

Sammy Mandell is wanted in Youngstown on July 2, providing a suitable opponent can be found to meet him in a card with Tandler and Leonard in New York on July 23.

Bill Henry, who was matched to meet Jack Malone at Chicago on Tuesday night, broke his arm in a sparring match with Sailor Freedman last Thursday.

George Oswego has substituted Henry Leonard for South Chicago. The weight will be 126 pounds.

Jack Malone, 35, Paul middleweight, is training at the Arcade for his twelve round debut bout with Anthony Downey at Columbus, Mo., on Sunday.

Byron Downey in Columbus, the last of the shipyard during the war. Some came to see the fight, but the crowd was small.

SOX CARRY OLD JINX AGAINST TIGERS TODAY

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—(Special.)—After a hot, sooty ride from Philadelphia, the White Sox arrived here this afternoon in time to enjoy the cooling effects of a protracted thunderstorm. As the schedule makers had left this date open, the downpour did not interfere with anything. Tomorrow the Sox are billed to resume operations against Ty Cobb's Tigers.

George Robertson, who pitched a perfect game against the Tigers, will face them tomorrow. Cobb's men never have been able to solve their no-hit jinx.

The showing of the Sox in the east, where they won nine and lost five, merely vindicated those who refused to give up hope when the team slid into the cellar berth.

When Hearts Command

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS

Mrs. Jean Curran and her daughter, Alice, spend an extraordinary vacation on the Italian Riviera after a lifetime of frugal living. There they meet Dr. Philip Ardene, the famous scientist, and he and Alice become engaged. Jean's husband, Hugo Smarke, who had been confined in a criminal insane asylum for the killing of his partner, is released and comes to join her. Not even Alice knows he is alive, and in order not to upset her daughter's wedding plans Jean and Hugo agree he will represent himself as her brother, John Bates. The Curran had been married to Hector Gaunt in her youth, and Hugo had afterwards married her through chivalry to protect her and her unborn child.

Curtis Ryan, widow of the man slain by Hugo, had been a guest at the same hotel. Hugo, on meeting her, reminds her that she owes him $20,000. She agrees to pay him, but leaves the hotel in great agitation. Dr. Ardene recognizes John Bates as Hugo Smarke, and upon his better judgment decides to marry Alice immediately. They are married at once, and go to Lucerne on their honeymoon.

Jan writes to her husband's cousin, Christopher Smarke, about Alice's marriage. Christopher takes upon himself the duty of informing Alice that her mother had no right to permit the marriage. Alice decides to leave Philip, but he persuades her to remain with him, although not as his wife.

INSTALLMENT LX. DEATH OF HUGO.

He took her into the drawing room and told her as best he could, referring always to the man she believed to be her father as Hugo. They had come on a picnic to Castel d'Appio, and Hugo had taken it into his head to climb up to the top of the ruin. There had been trouble in getting him down, for at the last he had been taken with a seizure of some sort, and remained unconscious ever since. He was dying, now. The doctor said he could not possibly last more than a few hours. Her mother was with him. Of course, Alice could go up. She mustn't be shocked by her mother's appearance. Jean had been through a great deal. Alice suddenly found herself weeping on Gaunt's shoulder. There was something comforting about this big quiet man who seemed to take life—or death—as it came, making no great fuss about either. She had a longing to tell him her own troubles. She felt he was the sort of man who could solve them for her; or at least convince her of how little moment they were.

Alice suddenly found herself weeping on Gaunt's shoulder.

"Come, my dear, dry your eyes. Don't let your mother see you crying. You must be a brave girl and help her."

"Yes—yes, I will," Alice mopped her streaky face and tried to smile. "I've been such a beast to mummy, but she's an angel and will forgive me."

"It's a pity—said Gaunt, that you don't quite know what an extraordinary woman your mother is. But not an angel—O dear me, no!" He laughed sadly.

"O, mummy—I heard you call for me and I came as fast as I could! It was in the middle of the night—before last—and early yesterday morning I started. Mummy, can you ever forgive me for being such a beast?"

Alice dropped to her knees beside the arm chair, and buried her hot face in her mother's lap.

"Yes—it's all right, dear. I don't wonder you felt bad. I'm so glad you came. The poor little man is going fast."

Shaking with sobs, Alice hid her face more deeply in her mother's skirts. This was no time to discuss the details of her own tragedy.

Hugo died that night, and they buried him the next afternoon in the little English cemetery in the valley below Monte Nero. Jean was exhausted by the shock and excitement of it all, and in looking after her the household had no time to meditate upon the passing of Hugo.

The task of going through Hugo's slim possessions fell to Alice. There were no affairs to be settled up. His little property had been handed over to Jean during his lifetime. Merely his clothes to be sorted out and a few trinkets apportioned. The clothes, Jean said, were to be sent to the almshouse where he had died, going through coat-pockets. Hugo had stowed a great many treasures there, all one would expect to find in the pockets of a school boy. In turning out the coat of his best suit, the new one he had bought for her wedding, Alice came upon a fat envelope heavily sealed with red wax, addressed to Mrs. Philip Ardene. Why, that was herself. And the letter had been written in Genoa. The envelope had the name of the hotel on it. He must have written it directly after her marriage.

Gaunt, going over his farm accounts in the little library which opened directly on to the garden, became conscious of a shadow in the doorway, and lifted his eyes. Alice was standing there looking at him, her face white as open sheets of a letter in her hand. Her expression startled him, and he rose in alarm, asking if anything were amiss with her mother.

"No, mummy's asleep," she replied.

She came into the room and sat down on the opposite side of the table he was using for a desk.

"Here's a letter I found," she said. "It was addressed to me and I opened and read it. Perhaps my father wrote it because he was mad. He says he was not my father. He says you and mummy cared a great deal for each other and were secretly married—but that the marriage wasn't legal, and he married her afterwards because of—of me. Is that true?"

Gaunt met her eyes steadily.

"It is true," he said. "May I see the letter? Or would you rather—"

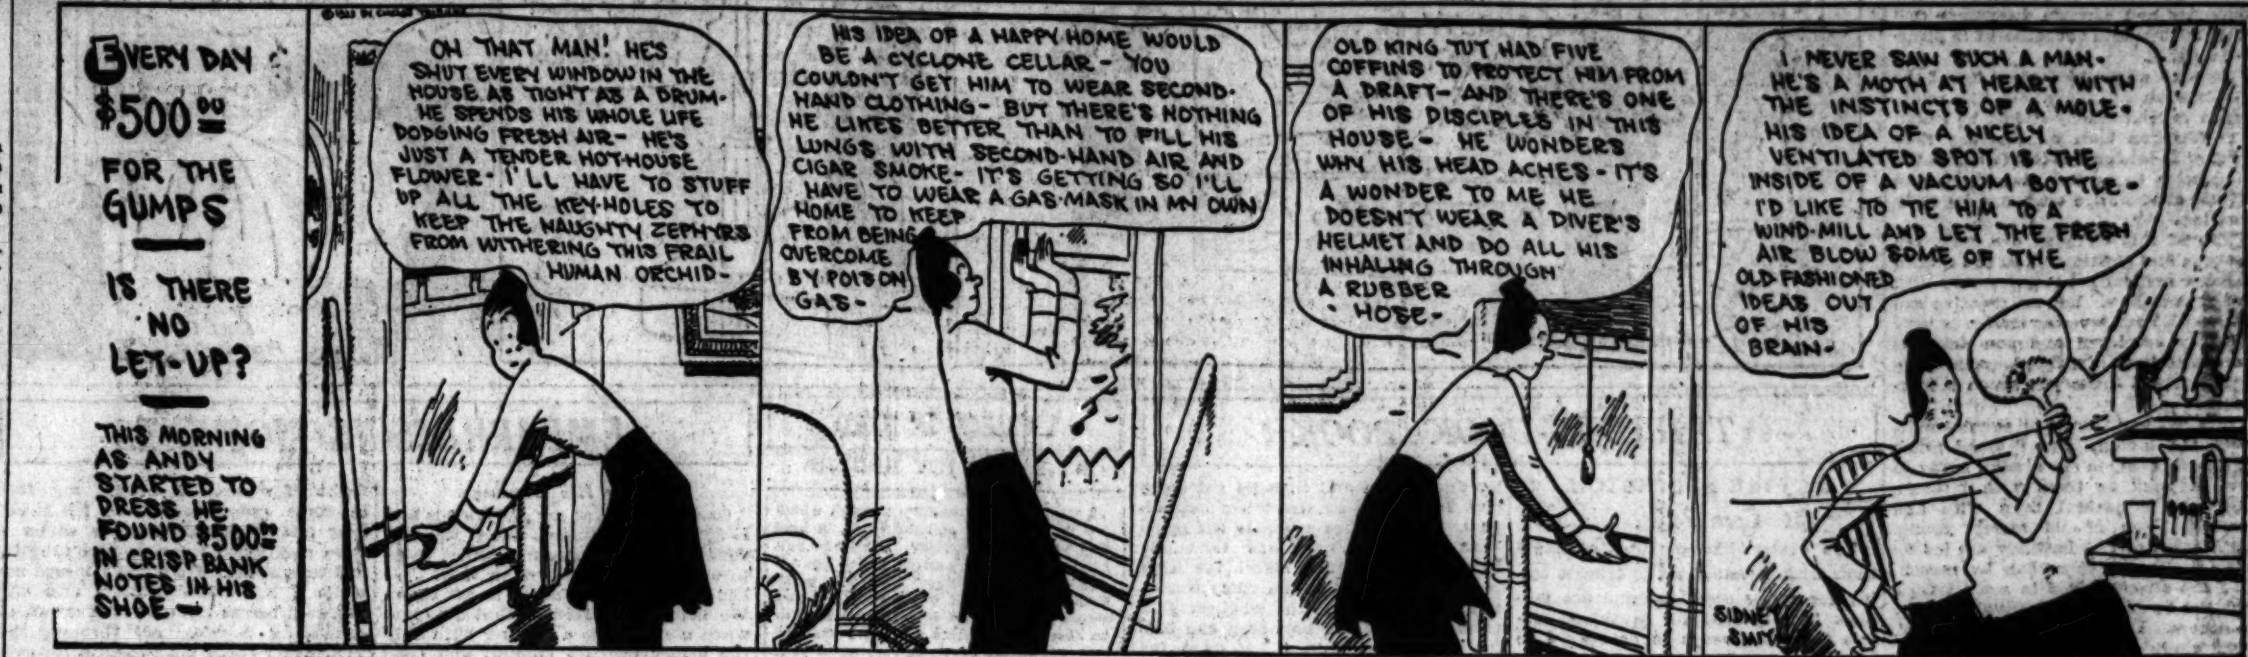

"O yes, please read it."

She handed over the closely written sheets, and leaned back with a sigh. It was a wiser letter than one would have expected from poor, eccentric Hugo, although, to be sure, he passed through its pages as one who knows himself to be a hero. He wanted her to be told, he said, in the event of his death, all he had done for her and her mother; and it was just as well she should know, since Philip Ardene was so bigoted on the subject of insanity, it might relieve his prejudiced mind.

THE GUMPS—OH, THAT MAN!

ON THAT MAN! HE'S SHUT EVERY WINDOW IN THE HOUSE AS TIGHT AS A DRUM. HE SPENDS HIS WHOLE LIFE DODGING FRESH AIR. HE'S JUST A TENDER HOthouse FLOWER. I'LL HAVE TO STUFF UP ALL THE KEY-HOLES TO KEEP THE NAUGHTY ZEPHYRS FROM WITHERING THIS FRAIL HUMAN ORCHID.

HIS IDEA OF A HAPPY HOME WOULD BE A CYCLONE CELLAR. YOU COULDN'T GET HIM TO WEAR SECOND-HAND CLOTHING. BUT THERE'S NOTHING HE LIKES BETTER THAN TO FILL HIS CLOSET WITH SECOND-HAND AIR AND CIGARETTE SMOKE. IT'S GETTING SO I'LL HAVE TO WEAR A GAS MASK IN MY OWN HOME TO KEEP FROM BEING OVERCOME BY POISON GAS.

OLD KING TUT HAD FIVE COFFINS TO PROTECT HIM FROM A DRAFT—AND THERE'S ONE OF HIS DISCIPLES IN THIS HOUSE. HE WONDER WHY HIS HEAD ACHES. IT'S A WONDER TO ME WE DON'T WEAR A DIVER'S HELMET AND DO ALL HIS INHALING THROUGH A RUBBER HOSE.

I NEVER SAW SUCH A MAN. HE'S A MOTH AT HEARTY WITH THE INSTINCTS OF A MOLE. HIS IDEA OF A NICELY VENTILATED SPOT IS THE INSIDE OF A VACUUM BOTTLE. I'D LIKE TO TIE HIM TO A WIND-MILL AND LET THE FRESH AIR BLOW SOME OF THE OLD FASHIONED IDEAS OUT OF HIS BRAIN.

Happiness Tax to Take Bit of Joy to Slums

BY LOUISE JAMES BARGELT.
And now we have something new this year.

A happiness tax at a picnic. Raising money to give the kiddies a free vacation at Camp Algonquin by putting a fun tax on every man and woman, boy and girl, who are present.

That is what is going to happen today at the big parish picnic of St. Edmund's Episcopal church school, which is to be given in Jackson park.

It won't be a hardship on any one and the dimes collected will go towards giving a lot of poor children a good time they could not possibly have otherwise.

So, as the Rev. Hugh M. MacWhorter suggests, the picnic's time and the place—with the kids all there—for a happiness tax.

And—let's it hot! Do you know just how long it takes for milk to sour when it's kept in a room that's 90? And have you ever seen a sick baby push it away because it had curdled and wall for more when there wasn't any?

This would happen over and over again, in front tenement and rear, the city over, if it weren't for the ice that is being sent around. And money's needed to furnish that ice.

FRANCE BARES NEW SCHEME TO TAP U. S. PURSE

Plan to Shift Mandate Costs to League.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
PARIS, June 22.—Enormous expenditures for military operations and costly civilian administration by the allies in mandated territory may be eventually added on the league of nations. This was revealed in the French senate today. The disclosure is the first real holding of the French government's attitude toward the allies in mandated territory may be eventually added on the league of nations. This was revealed in the French senate today. The disclosure is the first real holding of the French government's attitude toward the allies in mandated territory may be eventually added on the league of nations. This was revealed in the French senate today.

The cat slipped from the bag during a bitter debate on the French budget, in which the government asked for credits of 225,000,000 francs (about $14,700,000) for 20,000 troops and 6,000 Syrian legionnaires in France's Levantine army, engaged in "pacifying" Syria under a league mandate.

Attacking the budget, Victor Berard pointed out that the government had promised the military operations would be completed this year, but instead they are being prolonged indefinitely with heavy losses, it being practically a "colonial war."

Then Henry Bergue, chairman of the budget commission, revealed a joker.

"I prefer not to discuss either the Syrian policy or the Syrian mandate, but I remind you that France already has expended several billion francs for military and diplomatic operations in Syria," he said.

"The league of nations," he continued, "has assumed these charges itself, which foreign critics of our budget should remember. We must at least on an exact accounting being maintained, what it has cost us in Syria for a future international settlement of accounts."

Many of these present took this statement to mean that France and probably Great Britain intend to charge the cost of all operations undertaken under mandates as eventual claims on the league, should the United States join. It is useless to try to collect anything from the league organization now, as the league is without funds, and furthermore, such action, it is realized, would scare off President Harding from the world court as well as embarrass the supporters of the league in America.

The Tribune learns that one plan under consideration aims to apply the costs of the administration of mandates on the nations, so as to put the allies' war debts to the United States as soon as an opportunity occurs through America adhering or putting herself in a position of falling under the league or court jurisdiction. It is argued that the whole mandate system was proposed by Woodrow Wilson, and therefore the United States is responsible financially as well as morally. Otherwise they will abandon the mandate theory and simply annex the territory.

Ship Washington Treaty.

The spirit of the Washington treaty was slapped in the face during discussion on the marine budget when Minister of Marine Raberth, thanking the senate for a vote of 21,000,000 francs (roughly $1,312,500) for the construction of nine submarines, said: "I formerly said our navy is dying. Today we can say our navy begins to be reborn."

A section of the senate opposed the construction on the ground that it might violate the Washington accord, but the naval commission insisted that the submarines were necessary to protect the French coast.

HUNGER MAKES CHINESE HELD BY BANDITS GO MAD

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

SHANGHAI, June 22.—The Shanghai Rotary club today started agitation to force the Chinese government to release the Chinese prisoners held by the bandits. When the foreigners were released more than a week ago a promise was given that the Chinese captives, including all the prisoners, would be released within twenty-four hours.

The newspapers here state that it is a national disgrace for the Chinese to permit their own people to remain prisoners after the release of the foreigners, and they declare that this affords proof that the Chinese lack a humanitarian instinct and only act when forced to do so by external pressure.

A letter from one of the Chinese prisoners published here today said that all the food supplies from the outside stopped when the foreigners were released and that some of the prisoners were losing their minds from their privations and sufferings.

The newspapers here state that it is a national disgrace for the Chinese to permit their own people to remain prisoners after the release of the foreigners, and they declare that this affords proof that the Chinese lack a humanitarian instinct and only act when forced to do so by external pressure.

A letter from one of the Chinese prisoners published here today said that all the food supplies from the outside stopped when the foreigners were released and that some of the prisoners were losing their minds from their privations and sufferings.

BULGARIAN KING TO SEEK HAND OF ELENA, ROUMANIAN PRINCESS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

VIENNA, June 22.—King Boris of Bulgaria is leaving for Bucharest next week to ask for the hand of Princess Elena, the youngest daughter of King Alexander of Rumania.

King Boris is 33, while the princess is 16. Such a marriage will make King Boris the brother-in-law of King George of Greece and King Alexander of Rumania.

Bulgaria is one of the strongest combinations in the Balkans.

While the letter mentioned names, it was obvious that it had reference to cable dispatches published several weeks ago, in which it was reported that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and a similar organization of a foreign country to prevent shipment of coal to the United States, while coal miners here are on strike, would be a violation of law and will be met with prompt action by the government.

The notice was in the form of a letter from Mr. Daugherty to John Hays Hammond, chairman of the United States coal commission, and was made public by Mr. Hammond.

U. S. ASKS EUROPE TO HELP IN CARE OF WAR VICTIMS

Refuses to Bear Entire Load in Near East.

BY VINCENT SHEEHAN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

GENEVA, June 22.—The United States government's attitude toward the misfortunes of the near east were outlined this morning before the league of nations finance committee by P. H. Dolbeare, the state department's representative.

Reading in part Secretary of State Hughes' note to the allied powers last March, Mr. Dolbeare informed the league experts that American organizations have been bearing an enormous burden in the near east disaster and suffering, and they are willing to continue to contribute to the best of their ability, but they wish not to have to carry the load alone.

Acts for Red Cross.

The organizations for which the state department is acting are the American Red Cross and the American Relief. President Harding's honorary president of the first, and Herbert Hoover is active president of the second.

The actual labor of the session began when M. Parmentier of France presented a detailed report of the Greek financial situation, with a view to determining whether the league can float a loan of $10,000,000 ($40,000,000) to aid the refugees.

1,000,000 Facing Hunger.

The problem facing the members of the league and America is extremely delicate. From the American point of view it is difficult or impossible to abandon the 1,000,000 starving men, women and children on June 30, yet it is equally impossible to continue the enormous expenditure by the American Red Cross and the American Relief.

From the league's viewpoint $40,000,000 is a lot of money, and if the proposed Greek loan falls after the excellent success of the league's Austrian loan—the league will get a wholly gratuitous and unwelcome black eye.

IF INHERITANCE TAX ANNOYS, SEE SMALL TUESDAY

Springfield, Ill., June 22.—(Special.)

Gov. Small has granted a hearing next Tuesday on House bill 572 which cuts the state inheritance tax rate in two. The rate was doubled in 1921 at the governor's recommendation. He proposed a further increase this year, but the legislature instead reestablished the rates effective in 1921. The bill was introduced by Representative Castle (Rep. Bardington), who said the 1921 rates are crushing millionaires out of the state.

The 1921 inheritance tax law defeats its own purpose—that of bringing more revenue to the state, Mr. Castle contends. Until the rate was doubled wealthy persons were content to call their gold coast and north shore places their permanent homes and pay the state's levy on inheritance, but with the 1921 boom they transferred their state allegiance to some other commonwealth and became transient sojourners in Illinois.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Strength in Minneapolis and Winnipeg, July wheat in the market making 54c, was the basis for much buying here and helped to make the advance strong and higher. It was said that about 100,000 bushels of wheat were being shipped from the northwest which might easily be higher.

Weather in the northwest is an important factor in the wheat market. High temperatures and reports of spring wheat heading in some sections, especially along the border, induced considerable covering by shorts and speculators. However, local traders, who regarded prices as low enough for the present.

It would be no surprise to see shorts in July wheat become uneasy in the near future and begin to cover. Country dealers having wheat sold for July shipment, it is estimated, have a hard time in getting the wheat from the farmers in the north who wait to sell their grain. An old trader who waits for conditions in all markets closely allied to the wheat market, said that a week will be a big surprise to the trade.

All the hard winter wheat here is being picked up by exporters. There were bids for 300,000 bushels of hard winter wheat for export, but no sale. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale.

It is not the amount of corn back in the country that is worrying the July wheat market, but the limited offers here and the difficulty of getting the July wheat advanced to new high levels with limited offers.

The decline in wheat put the market into better shape. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale.

One of the best crop reports in the northwest, in a wire to F. A. Paddock, about the wheat crop, was received. About 100,000 bushels of wheat were being shipped from the northwest which might easily be higher.

Premiers of two western provinces, Alberta and Saskatchewan, met yesterday to discuss the wheat market. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale.

During the last two days, lamb values jumped unevenly. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale. The market was quiet for wheat for export, but no sale.

from town. In the presence of winds of farmers assembled from surrounding country, the Presi the United States mounted to the of a binder beside farmer Neal assisted for a few minutes in the winning of a crop which he be

How He Shocks Wheat.

The President was accompani the Neal farm by Gov. Davis of the Senator Capper (Rep., Kas.) other Kansas political leaders. As he reached the farm, where a band was running the tractor
President pitched in to demon strate that he could shock wheat.

"I'll show you, governor, I haven't forgotten how," he said, and up two sheaves of wheat with each hand and placed them on the base of the shock. He then rapidly, the President soon shook almost done.

"Now, governor," said the President, putting a little from his eye
"I'll show you the Ohio way."
"We crown the shock in Ohio."

"Dirty Farmer" a Critic.
"We don't crown them out said the governor, as the Presi

the crowning sheaf on the pile.

Surveying his handiwork for the President concluded number one and did it much smile and quickly.

There, senator," he said to Mr.
"don't you think that our shock me to the farm bloc?"
"It certainly would," the sena said.

The shocking over, the Presi
dented on operating the McC
Dyer binder which was runn the field. Gov. Davis and F Neal hauled the farm hand, who the binder up to the President to take a picture of the attracti ful harvest of attractive flim.

Mounts to Binder Seat.

Without any hesitation, the President, attired in blue coat and trousers, mounted the tractor and took his place in the seat.

Grasping the wheel with one hand, he asked the farm hand how to operate it. He got the hang of the th immediately and told the man to the breaks. Pushing in the clutch, he went the binder operated
